

with a fine group of people in helping disseminate the most important story of our times. My new book, to my knowledge, will be the first to present a forum of debate among the critics (of all persuasions) under "one roof".

Personally, I hope you will reconsider your proposals in the light of the foregoing, and agree to contribute for the same return as all the others who will write for the book's anthology section. I believe you have something valuable to contribute, facts that perhaps you cannot communicate through vehicles like Genesis...

One last explanation: "Book Distributors" is only a plural noun, not a registered company. It is me alone, although I hope to register the name soon.

Finally, if you have the stomach for naive idealism, I would welcome you aboard for this adventure in 'little man' publishing. By joining us I believe that you will reap profits greater than money. Who knows? - perhaps the book will force a re-investigation in America...

Meanwhile, I apologise if my previous letter raised your expectations unduly. It was dashed off in a hurry, and obviously gave the wrong impression.

Nevertheless, now that all has been explained, I hope to hear from you again in the form of your best article yet! - (2000/3000 words) with supporting illustrative material and a personal photo. The deadline is the first week in April...

Sincere wishes for you continued success,
Kind regards,

Ian MacFarlane

Ian MacFarlane

Harold,

Won't you re-consider?

In view of your comments, I have "seen the light" about commercializers like Prouty et al - but, let's face it, it's a fact of life. Maybe we're the fools for not cashing-in...

Have you received the clippings and transcripts, regarding the showing of the Zaprouder film here on two national networks, yet? (I don't know if I put enough stamps on it) If not, write and I'll send further copies)

Kind regards,

Ian MacFarlane